This Rule specifies that a variable rate instrument to be paid in 397 calendar days or less shall be deemed to have a maturity equal to the period remaining until the next readjustment of the interest rate.
- (2) This weighted average maturity calculation uses the final maturity of any floating rate instruments held in the portfolio to calculate the weighted average maturity for the pool.
 - * The maximum management fee authorized for the TexSTAR Cash Reserve Fund is 12 basis points. This fee may be waived in full or in part in the discretion of the TexSTAR co-administrators at any time as provided for in the TexSTAR Information Statement.

Economic Commentary

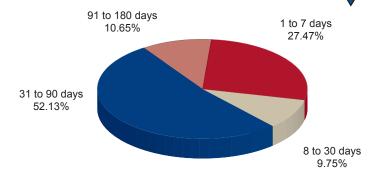

Optimism about the US-China trade agreement and dovish Fed rhetoric propelled risk assets higher in February. On the trade front, President Trump indicated that he would consider extending the deadline for new tariffs as both parties strived to make progress in negotiations. In Washington, lawmakers reached a bipartisan compromise on U.S. border security to avoid another government shutdown. Federal Reserve (Fed) Chairman Powell, in his testimony to the Senate Banking Committee, said that the Fed was in no rush to raise rates, as the domestic outlook has become more clouded. Additionally, patience enables the Fed to consider the slowing global economy and its impact on the U.S. The minutes of the January Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) meeting not only confirmed the shift in rhetoric on interest rate increases, but they also indicated a shift in the Fed's stance on the balance sheet, in which most participants favored an end to balance sheet normalization in late 2019.

Looking ahead at 2019, the first quarter will pose some challenges: primarily due to residual seasonality, tighter financial conditions and the impact of the U.S. government shutdown. The domestic drivers of U.S. growth continue to remain intact, and consumption will continue to be a principal driver of economic growth. The boost from fiscal spending will start to fade in the second half of 2019. The biggest headwinds to the U.S. economy could stem from factors such as the risk that China is unable to stabilize its economy, a further slowdown in European growth or an escalation in trade wars. The FOMC has fully shifted away from pre-set quarterly rate hikes towards data dependence. The recent tightening in financial conditions in Q4 and uncertain global economic backdrop has translated into a Fed that is more willing to be patient in the current environment. Additionally, patience offers little risk as inflation remains muted and the Committee believes the fed funds rate is now closer to a neutral rate. We think the Fed will likely raise rates again in the second half of 2019 after pausing to assess the landscape. During this time, we expect the labor market to continue to tighten, inflation to move gradually higher, lingering fiscal stimulus to have a positive impact on the first half of the year and regulatory reform to proceed.
