Economic Commentary

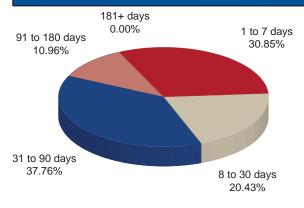

The growth backdrop in the U.S. continues to look solid in the second half of 2017. Markets welcomed the shift in focus from healthcare to tax reform. Business and consumer confidence remains elevated, consumption spending remains healthy and investment is showing signs of a pickup. Inflation remains stubbornly lower than expected. Government spending is unlikely to impact growth materially in 2017 as new legislation on spending and tax reform is not expected until, at the earliest, the fourth quarter. After agreeing to a budget resolution, the house and senate are now working on a tax reform bill which would, under the administration's aggressive timeline, be done by year-end and would result in a maximum of $1.5 trillion in revenue losses over the next 10 years.

In terms of the timing for the next federal funds rate increase, the committee has indicated that their objective is to continue to keep the pace of rate hikes "gradual". The median of the committee expects 1 additional rate hike in 2017 and 3 rate hikes in 2018. An additional rate hike in 2017 will be dependent on inflation data and financial conditions, but given the market is already pricing in a high probability of a hike in December, we expect the bar is high to dissuade them from moving. President Trump has begun to make progress on staffing the Federal Reserve. Randal Quarles has started as the new Vice Chair of Supervision and Jerome Powell, a current Board of Governor, has been chosen to lead the Fed next year. The Vice Chair of the Board of Governors spot still needs to be filled as well as three other governor spots (assuming current Chair Yellen retires in February at the end of her term as Chair). Given Trump's choice to appoint Powell to lead, we expect little to change with regards to monetary policy in the near term. Given his lack of dissents on the committee as well as his prior speeches, it appears he broadly supports the slow gradual approach to raising rates and current tightening path laid out by Yellen. We expect him to work with Governor Quarles on de-regulation and potentially be more attentive to easy financial conditions as justification to raise rates in the future.
