Definition of Weighted Average Maturity (1) & (2)

(1) This weighted average maturity calculation uses the SEC Rule 2a-7 definition for stated maturity for any floating rate instrument held in the portfolio to determine the weighted average maturity for the pool. This Rule specifies that a variable rate instruction to be paid in 397 calendar days or less shall be deemed to have a maturity equal to the period remaining until the next readjustment of the interest rate. (2) This weighted average maturity calculation uses the final maturity of any floating rate instruments held in the portfolio to calculate the weighted average maturity for the pool.

ECONOMIC COMMENTARY

Market Review

Economic growth continued to accelerate in May given ongoing accommodative monetary policy, fiscal spending, pent-up consumer demand and the pace of vaccinations. Nevertheless, markets were unsettled due to fears of rising inflation as supply shortages hampered strong demand due to post-pandemic bottlenecks. The consumer-led recovery gained momentum as vaccination rates increased and relaxed social distancing measures paved the way for some pre-Covid normalcy. Personal consumption, the largest driver of the economy, surged an annualized 11.3% in the first quarter of 2021 after upward revisions, the second-fastest pace since the 1960s. Economic output is now only 0.9% below peak 4Q19 real GDP. An inventory rebound could set the stage for a double-digit surge in real GDP in the second quarter. The U.S. Purchasing Managers' Indices (PMIs) for manufacturing and services both beat expectations in May. The Markit flash composite PMI rose to a record high of 68.1, from 63.5 in April, with the flash services PMI rising to a record 70.1 from 64.7 in April, as businesses continue to see very strong market demand.

The 1Q21 earnings season has been equally impressive, with 482 companies having reported (97.4% of market cap). Thus far, 85% of companies have surpassed EPS estimates, and 73% have exceeded revenue estimates. Many companies have now recovered to the revenue/EPS levels of 2019 and are setting fresh highs. Oil prices and the U.S. dollar have provided additional tailwinds to earnings. Given the strong economic growth and recovery backdrop reflected in earnings, inflation remained top of mind for investors especially as it has now surpassed the Federal Reserve's (Fed's) 2% target. The headline PCE price index rose +0.6% month over month (m/m) and +3.6% year over year (y/y) in April. The core PCE deflator also accelerated to +0.7% m/m and +3.1% y/y, beating market expectations. The April U.S. CPI report showed consumer prices rising at their fastest pace in more than a decade, as a rapidly reopening economy ran into supply disruptions, labor shortages and rising consumer demand, which intensified cost pressures and put upward pressure on inflation. Strengthening demand, however, allowed some businesses, particularly manufacturers, builders, and transportation companies, to pass through much of the cost increases to their customers. Headline CPI for April was stronger than expected, rising +0.8% m/m and +4.2% y/y, while consumer prices excluding food and energy rose +0.9% m/m and +3.0% y/y. While the Fed appears to be welcoming this period of modest inflation overshoot as temporary, markets remain wary.

The May employment report will be in focus on June 4th after April's data print disappointed, falling sharply below consensus expectations, and highlighted the challenge of forecasting given the unusual imbalance between labor demand and supply. It is likely that ongoing virus concerns combined with considerable unemployment benefits are providing a disincentive for many job seekers in lower wage jobs to return to work. Consensus forecasts points to a 650,000 increase in nonfarm payrolls in May, after a 266,000 increase in April and the unemployment rate to decline from 6.1% to 5.9%. JOLTS data show that U.S. jobs openings surged to a record high in March, further evidence that a shortage of workers is hampering job growth.

With the employment picture looking more mixed for now, the case for continued accommodation is entrenched. The Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) maintained the federal funds target rate in a range of 0.00%-0.25% and left the pace of asset purchases unchanged. In addition, the median federal funds rate projection—as measured by the "dot plot"—continues to imply no rate adjustments through 2023. Chairman Powell pushed back on tapering chatter and reiterated the view that higher inflation over the next few months will be transitory and thus not meet the threshold for tighter policy. Powell acknowledged the improved growth backdrop but said that they will need to see it persists to give the Fed comfort about achieving "substantial progress." Nevertheless, the April FOMC minutes revealed that Committee members are beginning to discuss adjusting the pace of asset purchases if the economy continues to make rapid economic progress. The FOMC may begin telegraphing tapering plans this summer, and initiate tapering in 2022. Despite the passage of an additional $1.9 trillion stimulus package in March, Treasury bill issuance/supply has been low and is not expected to pick up this year because the U.S. Treasury's general account (TGA) balances have not run down as quickly as initially anticipated. As such, the three-month Treasury bill yield was unchanged at approximately 0.01% while the 12-month Treasury bill yield decreased by approximately 1.5 bp on the month to end at 0.04%.

Outlook

A one-off disappointment in the jobs data does not change our outlook for strong above trend economic growth. But the weakness is likely to embolden the Fed in its accommodative stance, keeping front end rates well anchored. Yet, the recovery has picked up steam and has driven yield curves steeper, with higher long-term yields and the prospect of higher inflation in the near term. The broad picture of the recovery is one of revival, with strong gains in consumer and investment spending. We believe the economy is still on track to post over 10% annualized real GDP growth in the current quarter, recovering its remaining pandemic losses. This is expected to be followed by roughly 7% annualized growth in the second half of the year, boosting real GDP growth to close to a 7.5% y/y gain by the fourth quarter of 2021. This would also, remarkably, represent a roughly 5% increase over the fourth quarter of 2019, more than exceeding the trend growth that could have unfolded if the pandemic had never occurred. Growth should then decelerate in 2022 as the economy essentially returns to full employment.

Given the recent rise in inflation, a large concern for markets has been in understanding how central banks will react to potential further upside surprises on economic growth. Investors are concerned that if inflation does prove to be persistent rather than temporary, then central banks might have to raise interest rates quickly to slow down an economy that is running too hot. The Fed has suggested that any increase in inflation would be transitory and that it would not act too soon in tightening. It is clear that their messaging is tight and designed to suppress increases in long-term interest rates. However, futures markets are now pricing in a first Fed rate hike by the end of 2022 in contrast to the Fed's March FOMC projections showing no rate hike before 2024. It would seem likely that the next batch of Fed forecasts, due out after their June 15th/16th meeting, will include at least one rate hike in 2023. That meeting will also likely lead to heightened speculation about tapering bond purchases late this year or early next and all of this, combined with strengthening growth and inflation data, should put upward pressure on long-term interest rates.
